About Me

I'm a talented creative designer who enjoys a challenging brief and using my extensive skills and abilities to complete them to a tight deadline. With both a Degree and master's in graphic design I have an extensive and refined eye for design in and outside of a commercial world. I am a commercially aware designer with a creative mindset able to work within brand guidelines while maintaining high standards throughout. I involve myself within the creative team and am able to see the project from inception to completion.

I see myself as more than just a graphic design as I create for a number of different outlets from print to digital but also product design and experimental typography. I'm keen to keep myself up to speed with the latest design trends and having a range of experience from initial brainstorming, art direction, planning through to delivery. I've worked with a number of outstanding studios in creating a combination of design outcomes from display banners, logos, web design, emails, infographics and social media to branding and packaging design.

Combining this experience to drive forward my own style and ability and learning to go beyond just design as I've learnt to understand a number of coding languages and front end building ability's to allow a seamless designing with developers.
